IRS FORM 1023 ATTACHMENT

Part IV Narrative Description of Your Activities

Overview

It is the purpose of Mission Wings International, Inc to provide disadvantaged people living in remote and isolated areas with medical evacuation flights, humanitarian aid and to provide disaster relief during natural and man-made disasters.

It is also our purpose to provide air transportation services for churches, ministries and missionaries facilitating their work by saving them time and enabling them access into remote locations.

It is our goal to be available to help people, through the use of aviation and other means, during times of extraordinary tribulation and to serve churches, missionaries and other non-profit organizations with air transportation needs.

Doing Business As

Mission Wings International, Inc may conduct its daily activities as MissionWings.

Activities

Medical Flights

Mission Wings International, Inc aims to provide emergency medical relief flights to remotely located and isolated individuals who are disadvantaged. We primarily serve the severely disadvantaged who are affected by a lack of existing community services. The primary purpose of these flights is to transport individuals with life-threatening or potentially life-threatening injuries or illnesses from areas that are distantly removed or have limited road access to a medical treatment facility. We may also choose to transport these individuals by aircraft to a location where they can receive quick and reliable ground transportation to a medical treatment facility.

An example of one of these flights would be flying a mother with child birth complications from a remote village airstrip to a city airport to receive ambulance transportation to a hospital that has the facilities to give proper care.

The average cost for one of these flights is estimated at $560.00 USD and will be provided at no cost to individuals of poverty.

Disaster Relief Services

Mission Wings International, Inc aims to distribute disaster relief aid primarily, but not solely, to areas with poor, limited or non-existent road infrastructure. Although, we primarily target the severely disadvantaged, we will serve anyone suffering from the effect of disasters. Mission Wings International, Inc operates and focuses its resources locally and globally to communities who meet the aforementioned criteria regardless of their geographical location.

Examples of the such populations would be those affected by natural disasters and the displaced victims of sectarian and ethnic violence such as the devastating results of the earthquake of 2010 in Haiti and refugees of the Rwanda civil war in Africa.

We aim to distribute disaster relief aid by flying in supplies and organizing volunteers and/or staff to serve in the affected areas by coordinating and carrying out the distribution of food, water, clothing, sanitary supplies, etc. On occasions, in a location where it is impossible to land aircraft, disaster relief may be air dropped by parachute and supplies may or may not be distributed by volunteers or staff depending on the difficulty of safely inserting personnel into the location. The provisions distributed will be derived from our disaster relief fund, public support and partnering organizations.

The cost of disaster relief services can not be determined as each situation is different and can vary dramatically. Disaster relief services are provided at no cost to the individuals served.

Humanitarian Aid Distribution

Mission Wings International, Inc aims to distribute humanitarian aid to those in need. We will primarily target our distribution to remote and isolated communities and people groups whom are severely disadvantaged and affected by a lack of existing community resources. Humanitarian aid distributed will be derived from our humanitarian aid fund, public support and partnering organizations. These services are provided to the targeted people at no cost to those served.

Medical Access Support

To help disadvantaged people with medical access Mission Wings International, Inc may at times partner with other organizations and volunteering nurses and doctors to set up temporary clinics or field hospitals to provide medical services to isolated and remotely located disadvantaged populations during times of outbreaks and other health and medical crises. A scenario like this may occur when there is such a demand for medical treatment in one location from an outbreak that it is easier to bring medical help to the affected area than to evacuate affected individuals from that area. During such an event Mission Wings International, Inc will provide for the transportation needs of healthcare professionals and medical supplies and other necessary goods. We will also provide any volunteer help needed to assist medical personal in these situations.

Air Transportation for Missionaries, Ministries and Non-profits

Mission Wings International, aims to provide transportation for missionaries in need of air transportation services. These services are primarily, but not limited to, providing air transportation of individuals, supplies and cargo into remote areas with limited or no road access.

An example of this service would be flying building supplies into a remote village with no road access for the construction of a school or church.

These services are provided to missionaries, ministries and other non-profits who are affiliates within an affiliate classification created by the board of directors of Mission Wings International, Inc as outlined in our Bylaws Article III section 3.02.

The average cost for one flight is estimated at $480. Mission Wings International, Inc will apply fees for the use of this service.

Education

Mission Wings International, Inc provides education on the impact of a lack of medical access and the effects disasters have on disadvantaged people. We provide this information by presenting live media interviews, lectures and slideshows at schools, churches, conventions and other public venues. These presentations focus on the effects, current efforts and solutions to reach and help others affected by the lack of medical access and disasters.

Mission Wings International, Inc also provides education on how our services help missionaries access remote areas lacking efficient road infrastructure and facilitate them in their work.

We take advantage of various social media outlets such as discussion forums, blogs and social networking sites to educate people of the needs and our activities. We also chronicle our efforts and activities on the corporation's website.

By offering educational events as well as our publications and website, Mission Wings International, Inc is educating the public on subjects useful to individuals and beneficial to the broader community.

Ambassador Program

Mission Wings International, Inc seeks opportunities for community outreach through our ambassador program which allows individuals to volunteer as Ambassadors. As Ambassadors, individuals will help in our mission by raising awareness and funds through hosting of events and speaking engagements. Through these means, our mission will be brought to the attention of diverse audiences. Individuals acting as Ambassadors must be affiliates within an affiliate classification created by the board of directors of Mission Wings International, Inc as outlined in our Bylaws Article III section 3.02.

The funds received through the entirety of the Ambassador Program's activities will be used exclusively for the charitable purposes within the meaning of Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and will not be used for personal gains of any sort.

Distribution to Other Organizations and Individuals

We do not fundraise for any specific organization and Mission Wings International, Inc is not organized solely to contribute or fundraise for any specific entity. However, at the discretion of the board of directors we will provide air transport services to other non-profit organizations and may, if the contributions further our exempt status, choose to contribute to other organizations financially who share a similar mission.

We do not anticipate soliciting contributions where the donor has the right to advise how to use or distribute the funds. However, we will endeavor to comply with and recognize special requests, notes, terms and conditions which are specified by contributors and will maintain a separate account for that specific donation. An example of this rule is foundation grants. There may be situations whereby we solicit a foundation grant for a specific purpose; (e.g. education) and in those cases the grant, if awarded, will probably have restrictions on the activities it can support. Honoring those terms is inherent in the grant application process.

We will not accept donations if any conditions imposed by the donor on the contribution limit the corporation's ability to achieve its purposes or force this corporation to conduct activities that are not in furtherance of 501(c)(3) purposes. We will ensure that donations are accepted in accordance with 501(c)(3) regulations and we will properly determine fair market value according to IRS Publication 561. We currently have no specific plans, but it's prudent to mention the possibility.

Therefore, Mission Wings International, Inc may operate in any country and any region around the world where we may fulfill our mission and further our exempt status. Mission Wings International, Inc will obtain any required permits or permissions from the respective governments of any country we may operate in as required by law. This includes complying with the sanctions, embargoes, and other restrictions imposed by the United States government to such countries. For detailed information regarding our foreign activities please refer to the section of our Narrative of our Activities titled: Foreign activities. We may work closely^[1] with other non-profit and non-governmental organizations who are active participants in the same field. This will allow us to further our exempt status by providing the services and aid in a timely and effective manner.

^[1]Note: Working closely with other organizations does not constitute a "Close Connection" as it is defined on page 11, line 15 of the IRS publication of instruction for form 1023. It merely refers to exchange of information, non-financial data, suggestions and advices on locations and ways to address and direct the focus based on up-to-date information.)

Please Note: Rev. Rul. 71-460, 1971-2 C.B. 231

- "A domestic corporation that conducts a part or all of its charitable activities in a foreign country is not precluded from exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code. A domestic corporation that is otherwise exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 carries on part of its charitable activities in foreign countries. Held, since its activities are charitable within the meaning of section 501(c)(3) of the Code when carried on within the United States, the conduct of such activities elsewhere does not preclude the organization from qualifying as an exempt organization under that section.

- The same conclusion applies if all of its charitable activities are carried on in foreign countries. With respect to deductibility of contributions to the organization under section 170 of the Code, see Revenue Ruling 63-252, C.B. 1963-2, 101 and Revenue Ruling 66-79, C.B. 1966-1, 48.”

Line 13a. Do you or will you make grants, loans, or other distributions to organization(s)?

We do not offer or provide grants or loans to other organizations. Distributions to other organizations will be documented with copies of receipts, letters or other relevant documents. According to our bylaws, any distribution would have to be approved by the board of directors. The method of approval would be documented. Distributions to organizations have not yet occurred since the incorporation.

Please Note: Rev. Rul. 68-489, 1968-2 C.B. 210

- An organization will not jeopardize its exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, even though it distributes funds to nonexempt organizations, provided it retains control and discretion over use of the funds for section 501(c)(3) purposes.
- An organization exempt from Federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 distributed part of its funds to organizations not themselves exempt under that provision. The exempt organization ensured use of the funds for section 501(c)(3) purposes by limiting distributions to specific projects that are in furtherance of its own exempt purposes. It retains control and discretion as to the use of the funds and maintains records establishing that the funds were used for section 501(c)(3) purposes. Held, the distributions did not jeopardize the organization's exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code.

Line 13b. Describe how your grants, loans, or other distributions to organizations further your exempt purposes.

We do not offer or provide loans or grants to other organizations. Our contributions to other organizations will only include funds necessary to carry on our mission as it has been described in the Narrative of our Activities. These contributions would be funds donated to other organizations which are active in the field and are capable of addressing the issues of malnutrition, hunger, or disasters in a more timely and effective way than Mission Wings International, Inc would be able to at that given time. The board of directors will conduct due diligence and maintain control of any funds contributed to any organizations regardless of their exempt status and will comply with all applicable laws and guidelines to further our exempt status.

Line 14a. Do you or will you make grants, loans, or other distributions to foreign organizations?

We do not offer or provide grants or loans to any foreign or domestic organizations. If we decide that a contribution or distribution is necessary to fulfill our mission and our duty to further our exempt status, we will contribute at the discretion of the board of directors to foreign organizations. An example would be contributing to an organization that is providing humanitarian aid. If we decide to contribute to such an institution, we will stipulate how the funds shall be used and will require the recipient to provide us with detailed records and financial proof of how the funds were utilized.

Although adherence and compliance with the US Department of the Treasury's publication the "Voluntary Best Practice for US. Based Charities" is not mandatory, we the directors of Mission Wings International, Inc willfully and voluntarily recognize and put to practice these guidelines and suggestions to reduce, develop, re-evaluate and strengthen a risk-based approach to guard against the threat of diversion of charitable funds or exploitation of charitable activity by terrorist organizations and their support networks.

We also comply and put to practice the federal guidelines, suggestion, laws and limitation set forth by pre-existing U.S. legal requirements related to combating terrorist financing, which include, but are not limited to, various sanctions programs administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) in regard to our foreign activities.

Line 14b. Provide the name of each foreign organization, the country and regions within a country in which each foreign organization operates, and describe any relationship you have with each foreign organization.

At this time Mission Wings International, Inc has no relationship with any foreign organizations nor are there any current plans in progress to establish such relationships. Therefore, we cannot list any countries or regions at this time. That is not to say that it is not our intent to possibly establish a relationship with a foreign organization in the future but specific organizations and countries have not been identified at this time. Should there be any attempts to establish relationships in the future, Mission Wings International, Inc will act with due diligence and in full accordance of any laws and requirements governing this corporation.

Line 14c. Does any foreign organization listed in line 14b accept contributions earmarked for a specific country or specific organization?

As mentioned above, we have no relationship with any foreign organizations, hence there are no organizations to list from line 14b. Furthermore, if we were to contribute to any foreign organizations in the future, we would not contribute to any organizations that specify, earmark or require that any part of our contributions be out of our control or in any way to be directed to any other organization other than the recipient(s) or organization(s) originally selected by Mission Wings International, Inc We will maintain full control of the contributed funds at all times with records and receipts, and if available, with supervision of our ambassadors in the field.

Line 14d. Do your contributors know that you have ultimate authority to use contributions made to you at your discretion for purposes consistent with your exempt purposes?

It is very clear to our contributors and especially the public how we operate, direct funds and the nature of programs. The donation page of our website lists where the donations go and for what purpose. For contributions other than credit cards, we have a donation form available which every contributor is required to fill and it specifically points out our mission, goals and functions. A copy of this form is included with this attachment for your consideration.

Line 14e. Do you or will you make pre-grant inquiries about the recipient organization?

We do not offer or provide grants to any individuals or organizations. But for any contributions made by Mission Wings International, Inc to any organization, we take into consideration the tax-exempt status and overall financial standing of the recipient and we inquire about:

- The recipient's name in English, in the language of origin, and any acronym or other names used to identify the recipient
- The jurisdictions in which the recipient maintains a physical presence;
- Any reasonably available historical information about the recipient that assures us of the recipient's identity and integrity;
- The available postal, email and website addresses and phone number of each place of business of the recipient;
- A statement of the principal purpose of the recipient, including a detailed report of the recipient's projects and goals;
- Copies of any public filings or releases made by the recipient, including the most recent official registry documents, annual reports, and annual filings with the pertinent government, as applicable; and
- The recipient's sources of income, such as official grants, private endowments, and commercial activities.

Line 14f. Do you or will you use any additional procedures to ensure that your distributions to foreign organizations are used in furtherance of your exempt purposes?

We generally will not contribute to any organization unless we have an employee or ambassador overseeing the distribution of the funds regardless of their location, domestic or foreign. The board of directors will conduct due diligence and maintain control of any funds contributed to any organizations and will comply with all applicable laws and guidelines. We will also, at our discretion, conduct the following to verify and ensure that funds are used appropriately and safely:

- conducting a reasonable search of publicly available information to determine whether the recipient is suspected of activity relating to terrorism, including terrorist financing or other support;
- assuring that recipients do not appear on OFAC's master list of Specially Designated Nationals (the "SDN List"), maintained on OFAC's website at www.treas.gov and are not otherwise subject to OFAC sanctions;
- with respect to key employees, members of the governing board, or other senior management at the recipient's principal place of business, and for key employees at the recipient's other business locations, we will, to the extent reasonable, obtain the full name in English, in the language of origin, and any acronym or other names used; nationality; citizenship; current country of residence; and place and date of birth;
- As a pre-condition to the issuance of a charitable contribution, we will require the recipient to certify that they are in compliance with all laws, statutes, and regulations restricting U.S. persons from dealing with any individuals, entities, or groups subject to OFAC sanctions.

Line 22. Do you or will you provide scholarships, fellowships, educational loans, or other educational grants to individuals, including grants for travel, study, or other similar purposes?
